

ROSWELL DAILY RECORD.

VOLUME 7.

ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO, MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 14, 1909

NUMBER 89

BRAKEMAN IS KILLED

The west bound double header freight train that left Roswell about noon Saturday, ran through the east switch at Pecos at 11:20 Saturday night, resulting in the wreck of a portion of the train and the death of the front end brakeman, E. L. Rhodes, who has been running out of this city as brakeman about three months and has been working on the Pecos Valley lines about three years. Several of the trainmen were cut, scratched or bruised but none was seriously injured.

Whether the switch was faulty, had been thrown by some mean person or bounced open during the transit of the train is not known, but in some one of these ways, the train was caused to split the switch and a portion of it was derailed. The two engines, three water cars and six stock cars left the track. One of the engines was badly smashed up. The other was not damaged much. Some of the cars were broken more or less, but the train was not going fast enough to cause a general smash-up. Neither engine was up-set, but both were left leaning to one side.

When the jar of the derailment came, the men were scattered about the train and none seems to know how the rest escaped injury. In the engines were the two engineers, Ed McClure and Jim Bloomhart, their two firemen and E. L. Rhodes, the brakeman who was killed. How Rhodes received his injuries is not known. When picked up, shortly after the jar, he was unconscious and died in about five minutes. He had a gash in the back of his head and one arm was broken in two places, but it was internal injuries that caused his death. None of the engine men were hurt.

In the caboose was Chris. Kuhn, the boiler-maker of Roswell, who was going to Pecos to take care of these two engines and prepare them for their return trip. He received a cut in the skin over the eye. W. E. Sloop, the conductor, was bruised on the side of the head, and J. O. Howard, the rear-end brakeman in some unknown way was cut across both wrists. None of these injuries were serious.

It might be explained that this train was running extra west, going through from Roswell to Pecos with water and stock cars to bring back a load of stock.

The brakeman who met death in the accident was about 22 or 23 years old and unmarried. His parents live on a claim near Texaline. The body was embalmed at Pecos and shipped through Roswell this morning to the home of his parents.

ULLERY COMPANY TO INSTALL NEW LINES.

Clarence Ullery, president of the Ullery Furniture Co., returned Saturday night from Chicago, where he spent six weeks in the markets looking up the latest in the lines of business followed by this firm. Additional to buying a large quantity of staple goods, Mr. Ullery branched out to some extent, in keeping with the advance of civilization and secured new goods for the buyers of the valley. He also bought much for the store equipment and among other things secured were two auto delivery wagons, that will be installed at once upon their arrival, the first one being expected within thirty days. These autos will be used in the undertaking as well as general delivery service. He also bought two new hearses, one for the Roswell and the other for the Artesia store, and a big line of funeral equipment.

A GENERAL CLEANING-UP OF RASCALS IN MEXICO.

Monterey, Mexico, June 14.—More than a hundred arrests have been made in connection with the dynamiting of the office of Leon Flores, a few days ago by Juan Ferrino. According to the police Flores was the leader of the gang, and was not only responsible for blackmail and highway robbery but also trafficked in "white slaves." Many officials in surrounding towns have also been arrested.

MARRIED A RUFFIAN; PAID THE PENALTY.

Cincinnati, June 14.—Andrew Decia, whose wife married him at the door of a reform school from whence she obtained his pardon after unceasing effort, repaid her this morning by shooting her twice, probably fatally, after which he fled. They had been sweethearts since childhood. Decia was a thief and was sent to the reform school. The girl got him pardoned and wed him to reform him. A few days ago, with her baby, she fled to escape his cruelties.

BLACK HAND CASE HERE

Mrs. Lelia Irwin and her husband, H. A. Irwin, were brought here from the jail at Portales last night and given a hearing today before Judge Wm. H. Pope in district court for their alleged connection with the so-called Black Hand money extortion case, which came up at Clovis, May 25. Through habeas corpus proceedings their attorneys are endeavoring to secure their freedom. At present they are committed to jail for failure to give a bond of $5000. The trial occupied a greater part of the day and was still on at three o'clock.

It will be remembered that four or five prominent citizens of Clovis received letters, signed with a black hand, telling them to put certain sums aggregating $6,000, in a certain place on a certain evening and threatening death should they fail to do so. E. S. Leepy, one of the men under threat, placed a dummy package with a burglar alarm in the designated place and had officers stationed to capture the person who should take the package when the alarm went off. According to the evidence, which is not disputed, Mrs. Irwin drove to the place, picked up the package and dropped it again when the alarm went off. She admits all this, but gives as her defense that she was forced to perform this act through letters from the Black Hand, commanding her to do so, or forfeit her life.

The connection Mr. Irwin has with the case has not come out in the evidence when the alarm went off. Mrs. Irwin now claims to have gone blind, and has the appearance of being sightless.

The case is attracting great interest at Clovis. A dozen or more prominent citizens of Clovis are in attendance at the trial, some as witnesses. Elgin Douthett, who was found guilty of burning the range, was given a fine of $25 and costs, and a jail sentence of six months, the latter being suspended during good behavior.

The suit of Haynes & Bonney against A. D. Cowell, resulted in a verdict of $17.80 for plaintiff.

TARIFF CONCESSION FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Washington, June 14.—The Philippines were the subject of the tariff discussion this morning when the bill was taken up. After an executive session of the finance committee the recommendation of that free importations of Philippine goods subject to certain restrictions and exceptions, was taken up and Senator Lodge moved to make it applicable to Guam and Tuvalu. A change in the wording was made to make it clear that all manufactured articles imported into the U. S. from the Philippines should be the products of the islands or of the U. S.

Something Good in Music.

The Orchestra Concert at the M. E. Church, South, June 14th, is a noteworthy affair in many respects. Very seldom indeed is it that Roswell is favored with so much excellent talent on one program. Special notice should be given to the solo, "Dainty Rose," which will be sung by Mrs. Frederick R. Jolly, accompanied by the composer, Mr. R. A. A. Chase. Mr. Chase is a young composer of great merit and has already composed several operas besides a large number of beautiful pieces for the piano.

Teach Mental Healing.

Boston, June 14.—A summer school in which the devotees of Dr. Worcester will be taught the great truths embraced in the Emmanuel movement, was opened today at Sagamore Beach, and will last until June 26.

NOTED MEN ARE DEAD

Washington, June 14.—President Alfonso Penna, of Brazil, died at 7:30 this morning, according to a dispatch received at the state department from the American ambassador at Rio Janeiro.

Washington, June 14.—The death of Dr. Alfonso Moreria Penna, president of Brazil, was evidently sudden. Other than a dispatch that he was ill and that his ministers had been summoned to his bedside, there was no intimation that he was in ill health. The last report of his doings concerned the opening of the Brazilian congress on May 4th, his message to that body and his refusal to accept the resignation of the minister of finance.

He was elected president in 1906, and his term would have expired in 1910. Among his important acts were the authorization of a fifty million naval loan, the reduction of the duty on American sugar and an arbitration treaty with Argentina.

Gen. John S. Kountz, Died Today.

Toledo, Ohio, June 14.—General John S. Kountz, a former national commander of the G. A. R., died here today. He was widely known as the "Drummer Boy of Missionary Ridge," having earned the title when as a drummer boy of 15 years old, he seized a musket and joined in the charge, losing a leg.

While national commander in 1884, he obtained from the Pope a decision freeing the G. A. R. from the question of being a secret society.

BUFFALO CONFERENCE TAKES UP INTERESTING TOPICS.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 14.—"Children," "Law Breakers," "Families and Neighborhoods," "Immigrants," and "State Supervision and Administration" were the topics scheduled for today's session of the conference on Charities and Corrections. Frank E. Wade, member of the state probation committee, of Buffalo, was the first speaker.

Mr. Wade pointed out the changing attitude of the State in its legislation for children, from mere protection of their property to those constructive processes which are for the welfare of the child. He claimed that most of the offenses of children are due to the faults of parents, and that the child problem can never be solved until corrective influences are also applied to parents. Mr. Wade would give the Juvenile Courts exclusive jurisdiction in all cases in which children, or parents who contribute to the delinquency of their children are concerned.

The Hon. C. E. Faulkner, of Minneapolis, in an address, placed most of the burden of child-helping work upon the state. He said it was the place of private charity in child-helping service to do the necessary work which is not done by public charity.

"Child neglect and dependency is chiefly a city problem, and when the children that are neglected or left dependent are not provided for by the State, private charity must conduct well-managed institutions to care for the physical and moral needs of such children, and for their training in cooking, sewing, housework and served as a preparation for self-support or for a transfer from city to country life." In the judgment of the speaker the institution is an important child-saving station, along the line of preservation of the natural home life and the rehabilitation of the home life interrupted by vice or misfortune.

A. J. McKelway of Atlanta, Georgia, secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, for the Southern States, attacked the institution of child labor in the South. He contradicted the claim of Southern manufacturers that conditions there have been exaggerated, that the numbers of toiling children are rapidly decreasing and the evil itself disappearing, by showing many stereotyped views of actual conditions in three of the larger industries.

Mr. McKelway said in part, "The American intelligence appreciates the evils of the system, in racial degeneracy, perpetuated poverty, growth of illiteracy, the disintegration of the family, the increase of crime, the lowering of the wage scale and the swelling army of the unemployed."

"The oyster packing industry in the South is extensive along the Gulf Coast. The wages today are below the standard of American living, and the workers are mainly Bohemians brought from Baltimore. During the summer season they are employed in the fruit and vegetable canning industry of Maryland, whose child labor law has a special exemption for the canning industry. The communities where they are employed testify to the pitiful plight in which the workers often find themselves. Their children are numerous, and from eight years old and upwards are employed in shucking the oysters piled upon the tram cars after having been run thru a steam heated chamber. Out of one force of 150 hands at work, I counted thirty-five children not over ten years old, apparently. From the peculiar conditions of their employment, they have absolutely no chance for an education."

"The cigar industry in Tampa, Key West, and to a lesser degree in Richmond, Petersburg and Danville, Virginia, employs a large number of children. In Tampa alone, the number of children under fourteen increased in two years from a few score to over a thousand. Formerly, only Spanish and Cuban children were employed, but now a great number of the native white people of Florida have moved to Tampa that their children may learn this trade. The inevitable effect will be the lowering of the wage scale in what is now a high-waged industry."

"The students of the child labor problem know that the cotton mill has always been cursed with child labor and its natural accompaniment of long hours and low wages. On account of non-enforcement of laws, themselves defective, Southern cotton mills are conspicuous for the employment of children. Hundreds of them have been photographed at work, within the last year, and they are but typical of tens of thousands of them working from ten to twelve hours a day, or night. The evil is too great to be concealed, and the children too numerous to be hidden. There is no possible excuse for such wholesale abuse of childhood."

BAPTIST MINISTERS MAY EXPELL ONE FOR HERESY.

Chicago, June 14.—Behind closed doors the Baptist ministers' conference today took up the question whether Prof. George Burman Foster, of the University of Chicago should be expelled from the conference because of his unorthodox statements in his recent writings. Dr. Johnson Meyers, who criticized the views of the Professor, sought in vain to have the meeting public. The charges against Foster grew out of opinions advanced by him in a book he recently published. This is declared by ministers to be opposed to the principles of the Baptist denominations. The specific charges were made by Dr. W. A. Matthews, who pronounced the book "rank heresy." Since then many ministers have declared that Foster denied the divinity of Christ.

Col. Dudley Retires.

Washington, June 14.—Colonel E. S. Dudley, judge advocate of the West Point Military Academy retires today.

FILIPINO MUTINY

Manila, June 14.—The details of a mutiny of a company of native constabulary stationed at Davao, Island of Mindano, on the night of June 6, show that an attack was made unexpectedly on the officers, when the mutineers opened fire on the officers. Lieutenant DeGoucouria was hit three times but none of his wounds were serious, while Governor Walker and the other officers of the company escaped. The mutineers fled to the mountains.

Governor Walker hastily summoned the planters and proceeded to fortify a convent to be ready for a siege. The mutineers made a desperate attack on the beleaguered Americans and a number were killed and wounded before they retired.

INVESTIGATING THE HEINZE CASE IN NEW YORK TODAY.

New York, June 14.—The investigation of F. Augustus Heinze's alleged manipulation of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank, while president of the institution, was resumed today by a Federal grand jury. Otto Heinze, a brother of the defendant, Max H. Schulze and a number of Wall Street brokers appeared for examination.

"An indictment against Sanford Robinson, formerly vice-president of the United Copper Co. was found by the Federal grand jury here today. He is charged with aiding and abetting the spiriting away of the books of the company, wanted by the jury in the Heinze investigation."
